

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT IN AMSA

AMSA's mining operations incorporate sustainability procedures into their management practices. These include setting strategic objectives on environmental and social issues.

One outcome from this process has been the creation of a Corporate Affairs Department, with responsibility for legal, environmental and public relations as well as corporate social responsibility issues. From inception, the Corporate Affairs Department has collaborated with the other departments at AMSA to identify and support its management on their key issues relating to environmental and social performance.
